

Sideline Cancer began in 2012 by a group of high school students in Hollidaysburg, PA wanting to help create awareness and make Pancreatic Cancer a treatable disease.

Kiera Chirdon worked closely with Jack Andraha to create the Sideline Cancer initiative, which inspired The Griffith Family Foundation, her peers, and the community. Jack was in 9th grade when he won the 2012 Intel Science and Engineer Fair for his novel test of an early detection for Pancreatic Cancer. Both have transformed our cancer community through knowledge, love, and connections.

The Sideline Cancer initiative engages students to reach their potential by using their philanthropic and entrepreneurial skills to raise awareness and funds for Pancreatic Cancer research. Our goal in reaching out to our youth is to empower them with information, organization, and resources.

ABOUT PANCREATIC CANCER:

- Pancreatic Cancer is the 3rd leading cause of cancer-related deaths in the United States (behind Lung/Bronchus Cancer and Colorectal Cancer).¹
- For all stages of Pancreatic Cancer combined, the one-year relative survival rate is 20%, and the five-year rate is 7%.²
- Pancreatic Cancer is the only one of the top 10 cancer killers in the U.S. that still has a 5-year survival rate in the single digits.³
- Pancreatic Cancer research funding constitutes roughly 5% of the National Cancer Institute's Federal research funding, a figure far too low given the severity of the disease, its mortality rate, and how little is known about how to arrest the disease.⁴
